

Know Yourself Report

Introduction

It is often said that no one knows you as you know yourself. This is very true and this knowledge does govern our day-to-day activities and life in general like a clock. We do things without having to wait for decisions from within; the knowledge of likes, dislikes, and preferences are automatically present. Yet there are times when we do things that we are ashamed of or our activity is not normal in certain conditions. Hence there comes the need to know more of self, soul and mind, for body to perform at its best.

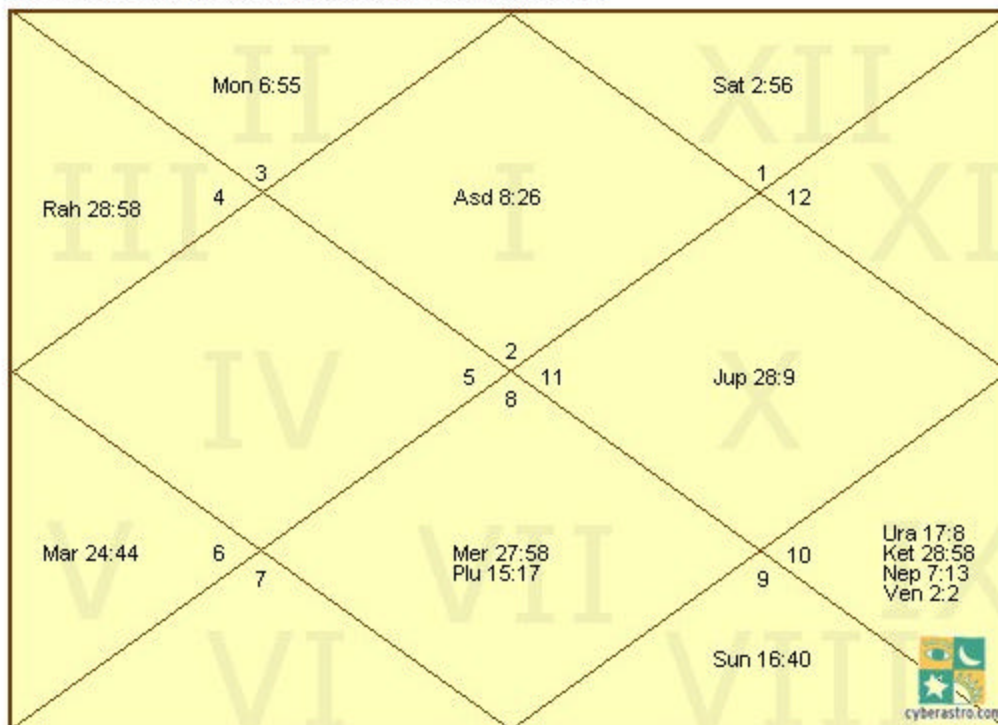

The core understanding of personality and behavior is derived from the Natal Chart, but it is supplemented by a finer understanding of the effects of the Birth Star or the Nakshatra that is associated with each planet in the Natal Chart. The three principle aspects that shape our personality and behavior are the Natal Sun, the Natal Moon and the Ascendant, along with the Nakshatra that is associated with each.

This report will give you a comprehensive idea of what is your world within and help you in the process of improvement upon your own potential.

Planet or Nakshatra Table in your Natal Chart:

The strengths of the planets and their potential to influence favorable or unfavorable events in life depend on the location of the planet, their ruler ship of good or bad houses, which is determined by the individual Ascendant and their nature. It is further influenced by their special status whether they are exalted, debilitated, retrograde or combust. The Ascendant determines whether a planet is functionally benefic or malefic for the chart as a whole.

The Nakshatras are most commonly interpreted in relation to the moon's position in a chart. When the Moon occupies a specific Nakshatra, the meaning of the Nakshatra modifies what the planets represent in zodiac signs. As a result, you can expect a certain style of behavior to be manifest in an individual or even in an event. For example, if a person had the Moon in Libra in the Natal Chart, this would indicate a softer emotional disposition from the point of view of that chart. That softness could be enhanced if the Moon is in Swati Nakshatra, but could be degraded if the Moon was located in the somewhat rougher Nakshatra like Visakha.

We present the status of each planet in your Natal Chart, in the table below.

Planet Name	Symbol	Location Sign	Location House	Ruler ship House *	Natural Benefic/Malefic	Functional Status	Special Status
Sun	Sun	Sagittarius (9)	VIII	IV	Malefic	Neutral	Great Friend
Moon	Mon	Gemini (3)	II	III	Benefic	Inauspicious	Neutral
Mars	Mar	Virgo (6)	V	XII & VII	Malefic	Inauspicious	Neutral
Mercury	Mer	Scorpio (8)	VII	II & V	Benefic	Auspicious	Friend
Jupiter	Jup	Aquarius (11)	X	XI & VIII	Benefic	Inauspicious	Friend
Venus	Ven	Capricorn (10)	IX	I & VI	Benefic	Auspicious	Great Friend
Saturn	Sat	Aries (1)	XII	IX & X	Malefic	Very Auspicious	Debilitated
Rahu	Rah	Cancer (4)	III	Neutral	Malefic	Inauspicious	Neutral
Ketu	Ket	Capricorn (10)	IX	Neutral	Malefic	Very Auspicious	Neutral

Your Moon Sign

---

The planet Moon (Chandra) signifies one's own emotions, mind, intuitions, intuitive behavior and one's mother. The moon plays a critical role in a person's affluence, imagination and sharpness of memory. The position of the moon in the birth chart or in other words the Moon Sign dictates the person's sensitivity to fullness and emptiness (high tide and low tide).

As per your Vedic Birth Chart, the planet Moon is located in the II nd House, in the sign of Gemini. So Your Rashi or Moonsign is Gemini.

You may be tall and have curly hair. You must have a smiling face with copper colored eyes and gallant in nature. You have a weakness for good food. Music and dance attract you.

You are endowed with the faculty of periling other's motives. You will be compatible with persons born with Moon in Taurus, Virgo and Libra.

You will do well in science and literature. You love traveling also. You may gain some wealth from unexpected quarters and will have more than one sources of income. Wearing a ring of green stone is advantageous for you.

Nakshatra (Birthstar) of Moon

The Zodiac is a circle of light and hence has no beginning or end. The Zodiac is marked by 27 Nakshatras or Constellations. Each Zodia sign is peculiar in its own way. Each Birth Star also affects the signs, under which they appear. Just as each Zodiac sign has its own characteristic, no two persons belonging to the same sign can display same traits. There are other aspects affecting the characteristic and one such, a very important factor, is the Constellation.

The Nakshatra of your Natal Moon is Ardra

Keyword: Moist or Perspiring

Symbol: A teardrop or drop of perspiration

Presiding Deity: Rudra (God of Storms)

Dasa of Ruling Planet: 18 Years of Rahu

Favourable: You would be quick acting, skilled in physical work or work involving the body. You will also have excellent memory and will almost never forget any details. You will be good at getting support from the government or authorities. You will also be quick to please your superiors. You will have a compassionate nature and be sympathetic to those who are suffering. You will be always plagued by desires to help people who are hurting. People born under this Nakshatra often go through a catharsis or life conversion at some point wherein they drop many of their bad traits. These are genuine souls who try very hard in their lives to do positive karma and attain the ultimate salvation from the shackles of birth and rebirth.

UnFavourable: You may become very arrogant, self-serving and thoughtless. Your actions may prove to be reckless. There may be problems in the area of profession and only the lowly and physical jobs may be available for you. There is also the danger of unscrupulous mentality. Truth may not be always the way of life or path chosen. You may also bring pain to the loved ones.

Your Ascendant Sign

Ascendant or Lagna gives you an insight about the general structure of your life. It shows you, your starting point and the subsequent journey through your karma. It is that scale that measures your basic personality, disposition and natural tendencies. It also charts your virtues and probable vices.

As it is directly related to the first house, it is the house that represents the Self and indicates one's basic relationship with the world at large. In Sanskrit it is called Tanur Bhava, which when literally translated means, The House of the Body.

Ascendant indicates how our physical presence relates to the physical world. It determines the whole structure of our outer manifestation. Affliction in Ascendant causes ill health, bad starts, and suffering in general. A strong Ascendant promises self-identity, longevity, optimistic activities, power, integrity, honor, respectability, fame etc. Through it, the other planets work in our favor or otherwise.

As per your Vedic Birth Chart, the Ascendant is located in the 1st House, in the sign of Taurus. So Your Lagna or Ascendant sign is Taurus.

Your Ascendant is Taurus. Taurus is the negative sign of Venus, Fixed Earth. As sign communication of feeling. They seek balance and harmony and stability in individual relationships and in the organization they are associated with. They are stable in whatever they do and have prolonged staying powers in crisis. Whatever they do must pertain to their way of thought since they are often fixed in their ways and cannot change quickly. They can be very possessive and can do well as businessmen, bankers or those who accumulate wealth. They are primarily materialistic persons and can be fulfilled to a large extent when backed by stable romantic partner, a good source of income and harmonious domestic atmosphere. Taurus types expect a lot from their spouse or mate in the kitchen and in bed. Taurus persons love to enjoy comfort, beauty, luxury or adornment around them. They make stable partners in life and have a great sense of responsibility for family and friends. On the negative side, they can be too obstinate and they would not like to budge an inch from a position once they have accepted it as their own. It is difficult to anger a Taurus person but once infuriated, they are dangerous to fight. It becomes very difficult for them to either forget or forgive that person. This is not a good asset for success in relationships. They are attached to the Earth and will often work with their hands and leave a mark or form on practical environment around you.

Nakshatra (Birthstar) of Ascendant or Lagna

The Nakshatra of your Natal Lagna or Ascendant is Krittika

Keyword: The Cutter

Symbol: Axe, sharp edge, or flame

Presiding Deity: Agni (Fire)

Dasa of Ruling Planet: 6 Years of Sun

Favourable: You would be a highly motivated individual. You will be an achiever of many laurels and deeds. You will enjoy a more than just healthy appetite for good food and good sex. There will be an aura of high energy around you that will be noticeable by male and female alike. You will be a result-oriented person and will not allow anything or any body to stand between you and your goal. You will do well in finances, as you like to get the bottom line. You will be successful and always go for what you want and will be a survivor; you will enjoy a proud, dignified and honorable disposition and possess leadership qualities.

UnFavourable: You could become changeable, vacillating and stubborn at times. You refuse to be advised. It would be difficult to please you once you are in a bad mood. You could also turn out impatient, aggressive and respond too strongly when challenged. Your expectations may become impractical and goals too high. You may suffer from exhaustion due to constant and unrelenting activity.

Your Sun Sign

The Sun indicates our self and charts the level of our self-manifestation. It represents all the things that give value and prominence. It is representative of our conscience. It shows where we shine, how we shine and in what we shine. It shows our aspirations, our identity and represents the perennial query, Who am I?

As per your Vedic Birth Chart, the Sun is located in the VIII th House, in the sign of Sagittarius. So Your Sun sign is Sagittarius.

Order and method are the basis of your nature. Disorder and confusion distress you. You like to make step by step progress in everything and your thinking is based on truth and reason. While you are confident and self-dependent, you are quick to locate weaknesses of others. You are not afraid to speak the truth and always stand up for it. This sometimes hurts others (even though your intention is not to hurt) and people tend to misunderstand you and become your enemy. You have a natural inclination towards science and philosophy. You often desire to unravel the finer and inner truth of things. Since you abhor disorder in the practical world, you would like to find order and method amongst confusion.

Because of your fine sensibility, you can get to the truth of something, but you cannot rest till this truth that you've experienced is also borne out by reason. You may not be aware of the full strength of your own nature. There's a deep sense of self-experimentation in you, which can guide you through science to philosophy to love and spiritualism. You have a natural inclination towards scientific philosophy and spiritualism. You may be deeply immersed in science or philosophy, searching for truth, but your ultimate destiny lies in love and religion. But this will certainly be based on knowledge, since you cannot let go of truth and reason under any circumstances. You are not at all superstitious. You like to test your spiritual experiences with the yardstick of reason.

The finer experiences of life attract you more and you enjoy such work that gives you the scope to think independently. Routine work does not interest you.

You are proud of yourself and if you are not careful, this self-pride may make you overbearing, restless and irritable; you'll be hard on others for their errors and will not hesitate to reprimand them. Hence, you should curb this tendency and nurture the philosophical side of your nature. Your head is stronger than your heart. Hence, the problems of a society or country will move you more than that of individuals. For you, welfare of a community is more important than that of one or two people.

Your grasp over subjects is quick. It is not impossible for you to gain proficiency in philosophy, science arts, etc. you are also interested in music even though, you may not be a musician yourself. Although, philosophical by nature, you are a doer. However, you hate work that is mechanical, you do not mind working hard where it involves brains or some unique research project.

Nakshatra (Birthstar) of Sun

The Nakshatra of your Natal Sun is Purvashada

Keyword: The Former Unsubdued

Symbol: A bed or an elephant's tusk

Presiding Deity: Apa (water)

Dasa of Ruling Planet: 20 Years of Venus intelligent person, you can be good manager but shine better as a service provider with capability to inculcate a good team spirit. You can be known as a reliable person, through being a steady and dependable worker, both supportive and courageous. The situation is likewise dependable in your marital and domestic life, the relationship being pleasant. You can be capable of having many children and would be a good family person, with a craving for good food. You are capable of being an influential and a wealthy person.

UnFavourable: You can easily or more conveniently settle for less in life, in your professional field. Thus, a degree of lack of ambition or drive can make you to often settle for lower paying, more hardworking assignments. In a managerial position, a casual approach can make give appearances or reputation of being incompetent. You would do well to avoid boisterous or discordant behavior, which can harm your reputation as being unrefined, lacking adequate knowledge or preparation and possibly reflecting poor educational background. One need also be more open to advice.

Conclusion

Nakshatras play a very important role in shaping the potential of an individual. On the positive side, the individual must make every effort to live up to his or her natal promise, while knowledge of the negative can help build an inner deterrent to such effects. There are three key Nakshatras at work here. The Nakshatra of the Moon, the Nakshatra of the Sun and the Nakshatras of the Ascendant. It is interplay of balance and relationships between the Sun, Moon and the Ascendant that actually shape the personality and nature of an individual.

As you read your predictions, you may feel that there are contradictions in the generic traits. These are not contradictions; they depict your tendencies. In case of the Nakshatra predictions, there is no balancing or compromise, they will happen especially during the transit or Dasa of the Ruling Planet. For this purpose the Dasa period as per your Vedic Birth Chart is mentioned against each of your Nakshatras. The objective here is make you aware that during these specific periods (some of them rather long), the traits of the Nakshatra will show up - it is for us to use this knowledge to overcome the negative by the very powerful process of self-awareness and self-correction. How much will be the impact of a Nakshatra on you, is dependent on the strength and the position of the ruling planet of the Nakshatra in your Natal Chart. You will need to consult an Astrologer to be able to understand in more detail.

As case of the Zodiac predictions, balancing out the pluses and minuses of the native traits of the Nakshatra that affect you, is very much possible and is in your own hands. If you are keen to change for the better nothing can stop you from being in the path of progress once that realization is in place.
