7 ½ year cycle of Saturn

Moon sign is the sign, in which Moon is placed in your birth chart. This is the sign Virgo in your chart. Saturn transits for approximately two and a half years in a sign. The transit of Saturn from one house prior to Moon, in the Moon sign and the house next to the Moon sign is known as 7-½ year transit of Saturn. In other words, the transit of Moon one house before the Moon sign, from the Moon sign and one sign next to the Moon sign is called the 7½-year transit of Saturn. These signs are Leo, Virgo and Libra in your Moon chart. This transit comprises of three phases. The transit of Saturn from the twelfth house from the Moon sign in a birth chart is known as the first phase. Its transit from the Moon Sign is known as the second phase. However, the transit of Saturn in second house from the Moon sign is called the third phase. Generally, this phenomenon occurs three times in the lifetime of an individual.

It is said that most of the period during seven and a half years' cycle of Saturn is troublesome. For example one might encounter laziness, mental stress, conflicts, health problems, losses due to theft, fire, debts, death of elders in the family etc. On the contrary, the entire period of seven and half years is not painful. Some auspicious events like marriage, birth of children in family, elevation in professional career, foreign travel may also take place. The first cycle of Saturn is sometimes tense and one might encounter physical pains coupled with obstructions and the hardships. During the second cycle, Saturn exerts moderate influences compared to the first cycle. However, one may achieve success during this period by increasing efforts or physical labour. Despite occasional mental stress, the progress continues. Notwithstanding the above one may experience separation or loss of some of the elder persons in the family during this time frame.

Practically very few people pass through the third cycle of Saturn. During this cycle, Saturn sometimes inflicts harsh results. One may experience health problems or physical hardships, illness etc. during this time frame. It is important to mention that the sufferings of a person, ups and downs, difficulties in enjoying mental/domestic peace, problems in personal or professional life depend upon the birth ascendant and the planetary configurations in the birth chart as well as the operating periods/sub periods during that period. In short, it is not necessary that the whole period during the seven and half years is unfavourable. The favourable and unfavourable results depend on the lordship, placement, influence and relationship of Saturn (friendly/enemy/neutral) with the lord of the house or the house through which it is transiting.

To conclude, the transit of Saturn one house prior to the Moon sign, from the Moon sign and one house next to the Moon sign is known as the 7½-year cycle of Saturn in a birth chart.
