At present you are passing through the main period of Saturn till 16th February 2017 and after that you would be under the main period of Mercury for next 17 years. So, in a way during the whole period of Shani Sade Sati you would have influence of main period of Mercury. Since planet Mercury is the lord of your 2nd house and 5th house and it is placed in the 12th house so, it would mainly affect the areas of life related to those houses. Hence, you could face certain challenges of financial front due to over expenditure and accumulation of wealth in compare to your income.

During this transit period of Saturn in to sign Sagittarius i.e. during the first phase of Sade Sati from January 2017 to January 2020, you would face two sub periods in the main period of Mercury. There would be sub period of Mercury in the main period of Mercury till July 2019 and after that there would be sub period of Ketu in the main period of Mercury till January 2020. Since Mercury is placed in the house of foreign land and it is lord of house of family and house of children so, it would play a supportive role with respect to your stay in foreign country as well as on professional front. This period would also help you to accomplish certain responsibilities related to children despite of having differences with them due to first phase of Sade Sati.

However, the sub period of Ketu in the main period of Mercury from July 2019 to January 2020 cannot be said a favourable period for you, which could create lots of issues on professional and personal front. It could also give you financial stress so, you should take every decisions very cautiously. You would find this period to be stressful from personal as well as monetary viewpoint. You need to work hard, rein in expenses and pay attention towards the health of your mother. It would be further beneficial to follow a tolerant approach, remain watchful from the viewpoint of your own health and avoid indulging in confrontations. Even then, this period could make you comfortable on financial front and it would ensure good income during this period.

During the second phase of Sade Sati from January 2020 to January 2023, there would be sub period of Ketu in the main period of Mercury till July 2020 and after that there would be sub period of Venus, which would continue till May 2023. During the sub period of Ketu till July 2020, you should maintain a cautious approach in close relationship too. Since, Ketu could create confused situation so do not try to be judgemental on any one and try to pass this time without getting involved in any controversy.

However, after the sub period of Ketu, the sub period of Venus in the main period of Mercury would generally play a supportive role with you. During this transit period of Saturn in to Capricorn, you would encounter mainly sub periods of Venus in the main period of Mercury but there would be sub period of Ketu in starting. So, the sub period of planets during the second phase of Sade Sati could produce mixed results for you. However, the sub period of Venus in the main period of Mercury would play a favourable role on romantic front as well as with respect to engagement in social life.

Your income would be on higher side and you could also acquire so luxury items in your life. This period is quite favourable for enjoying domestic bliss, attaining success in career as well as for overcoming your adversary. In fact, you would be enjoying suitable rewards of your sincere efforts during this time frame.

During the third phase of Sade Sati from January 2023 to March 2025, there would three sub periods i.e. of sub period of Venus, Sun, and Moon, which can be said a supportive period during the challenging period of third phase of Sade Sati or transiting Saturn. On professional front, you could take some risky decisions and that would play a supportive role to enhance your profile and status at work place. It would also support you to get better enjoyment of romance life and improve relationship with romance partner during this period.

After the sub period of Venus, the sub period of Sun started from May 2023 could bring further better situation on professional front and you could take under control the things if there was any issue to make it on proper place. Finally, the sub period of Moon started from March 2024 and effective till March 2025 would be instrumental for fulfilling desires as well as for attaining success in career.
